

What do foster parents say about RFKC?

“When I picked up six extremely enthusiastic children, they' were wearing hats, shirts, souvenirs and smiles, and each had his own special story to tell.”

“Attending Royal Family Kids' Camp was an incredible experience for my three foster children. The wealth of knowledge and love will last a lifetime. They are singing songs and reading from their Bibles and there has been a sense of camaraderie among the three that has been reinforced and strengthened since their return from camp.”

What do social workers say about RFKC?

“Royal Family Kids' Camp is commended for their conscientious effort to adapt their program to the special needs of these kids. Add the personal attention and sensitivity of the staff and you have a winning package.”

*Deborah Pallo
KIDS Foster Care Consortium
Phoenix, AZ*

“The day I spent at your camp reinforced for me how valuable this camp experience is for the children as you thoughtfully and cheerfully provide a safe, fun getaway for them. What looks to the observer as easy and casual, involves, I know, great care, awareness, training, planning, and teamwork. I also know that it really is fun for the kids and really is a highlight of their year. Please accept our deepest appreciation for all the hundreds of hours, the hard work, and the dedication of everyone involved in Royal Family Kids' Camp. Our agency is privileged to be able to work with such a quality project.”

*Judy Willott
Community Resource Program Manager
Children and Family Services
Bremerton, WA*

"Your staff did an excellent job of helping the children feel good about themselves. You are to be commended for efforts in providing a positive experience for high risk youth. Keep up the good work. We'll send children to your camp again!"

What is Royal Family Kids' Camp™?

Royal Family Kids' Camp is a one-week resident summer camp especially designed with the foster child and other at-risk children in mind. These camps are part of a growing network of camps nationwide. The camping experience is geared for success, recognizing the needs of abused, neglected and abandoned children. The activities are non-competitive, non-threatening and fun.

Each child is paired with an adult counselor (there's a strict ratio of one adult counselor to every two campers). All counselors and staff are volunteers who have been carefully screened and trained to work with children in the dependency care system, so you can be assured your foster child is in good hands.

At camp, your foster child will receive lots of individual attention in a wholesome environment, participating in a variety of fun and educational activities such as:

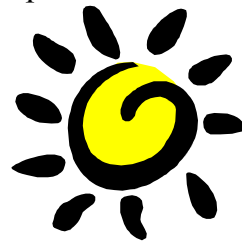

- singing
- games
- Bible stories
- hikes
- activity centers
- sports
- swimming
- and special events

The attention of caring adults, building friendships with other children from the "system," and the thrill of successfully completing projects and sports will result in a host of positive memories and enhanced self-esteem.

A week of positive memories

As a foster parent, you're the real hero: providing an abandoned or abused child with a safe home and security. But you may need a break. And your foster child's life and outlook can be enhanced by happy memories which can aid in the healing of the scars of abuse and provide a foundation for future happiness.

There's a camp "grandma and grandpa" who share hugs and stories and listen to children - and in many ways, they fill a vital role for children who may not have grandparents or may never see them. There's a camp theme which emphasizes to foster children how they are loved, important and cared for.
